Muppet Labs to Close Doors Friday

After nearly a year of fruitlessly searching for a new Chief Inventor to replace Dr. Bunsen Honeydew, A spokesperson for Muppet Labs announced today that the lab will be permanently shut down unless they can find a replacement by Friday.

Swedish Chef visits Hensonville

The renowned Swedish restaurateur known simply as the Swedish Chef reports that he plans to open a new Bingo-themed restaurant in the basement of the Muppet Boarding House once muppet labs has vacated the space.

Legendary Scientist Launches Legend...Dairy

Last year, after discovering gold ore in his back yard, eccentric scientist Dr. Bunsen Honeydew quit his job at Muppet Labs and founded "Legend ... Dairy".

Bunsen, using his once ridiculed, "alchemy machine" (that turns gold into cottage cheese) has patented the only 100% dairy vegan cottage cheese. The cottage cheese, which is said to taste like cottage cheese's hot sister, has been flying off shelves in supermarkets across the country.

In an ironic twist, Legend ... Dairy Vegan Cottage Cheese actually turned out to be worth more than its weight in gold.

Giant Chicken to Lay Magic Egg

Scientists on C-3PO island, the land of giant chickens, say they are the first to captured a young (yet unnamed) namesake hen.

As legend has it, the first egg laid by this six-foot tall chicken will grant one wish if cracked open by any person (or muppet) bearing her same name.

"There is no science behind the magic egg thing," explained Dr. Scooter of C3PO labs, but when asked who would pick her name and take the first crack at the egg, he replied: "We have a baby pool."

Dr. Scooter said that the lab has stepped up security in anticipation of the big day. Including the addition of twin elephant-sized goats who are naturally protective of namesake chickens.

Ninety nine. One hundred.
I'm ready!

Thursday

Thank god the keys were in this chopper.
C3PO Island here I come!

Meeping Meep! This is going to be rough!

MeepMeepMeep!!!!

There she is! Time to put my training into action!

POW!

Now I just need to find...

... a place to hide ...

... and wait...

... until chicken Beaker lays her first egg ...

Later that Afternoon

I think I'm finally going to become a woman

It's actually happening!!!!

Oooff I thought Chickens were supposed to have hollow bones.

It's actually happening!!!

Time to go fish my wish!

I will peck your eyes out egg
theif!!!
